What a great picture of Ray! Ray and Jean were great neighbors who had kind hearts. They were loving and happy. I was always so impressed by the love they showed for their family and others. He had a kind heart and welcomed all. I remember riding bikes around the house on that never ending sidewalk. Down the big hill and up the little hill. We lived on such a wonderful street surrounded by neighbors like the Thompsons. I still cherish the memories, people, and friendships of White's Way. Ray was part of that family we had.
